

Therapeutic Recreation Services (TRS) has been providing skills-training and recreational opportunities to individuals with disabilities and special needs since 1975. Participants learn leisure, social, community, vocational and self-help skills that increase independence.

Pathways assists TRS by providing:

- i program scholarships that allow consumers to participate in TRS activities
- i financial, volunteer, marketing and educational support to TRS

so they can continue to provide quality therapeutic recreation programs; expand services to people with disabilities; and stay abreast of changes in the field of therapeutic recreation through continuing education opportunities so staff can effectively serve the clientele.
